TENNESSEE HOSPITALS: THE PULSE OF OUR COMMUNITIES

79th Annual Meeting
Oct. 11 through 13, 2017

MUSIC CITY CENTER
DOWNTOWN NASHVILLE

CORPORATE UNDERWRITER: vizient™

THIS EDUCATIONAL ACTIVITY IS JOINTLY PROVIDED BY AXIS MEDICAL EDUCATION AND THE TENNESSEE HOSPITAL ASSOCIATION.
The word “community” likely brings to mind many images from your own past and life.

At the center of all those storefronts, gathering places and folks going about their daily routines is likely a hospital or healthcare facility.

These are places where lives begin, are often saved and even come to a close. Hospitals and healthcare facilities also are places where many people earn their livelihoods and find their passions, working together to make the places they call home safer and healthier.

These facilities reach far beyond their four walls and deep into communities to provide education, support and resources to the people and families they serve.

It really isn’t a stretch to think of healthcare facilities as the pulse of their communities.

With this in mind, THA’s 2017 Annual Meeting celebrates this idea with the theme, Tennessee Hospitals: The Pulse of our Communities.

This year’s Annual Meeting will bring together presenters and guests who will speak to the power of Tennessee’s hospitals and healthcare facilities and the efforts to improve them, as well as recognize the work of our industry and the integral role it plays in shaping neighborhoods, cities and rural communities.
MESSAGE FROM H. ALAN WATSON

It has been a pleasure and honor to serve as THA’s chairman this year. As we prepare for the 2017 Annual Meeting, I would ask that you focus on this year’s theme, which is “Tennessee Hospitals: The Pulse of our Communities.”

This can mean so many things. Your community is your hometown, where you live, play and work. Often it is your hospital that is the pulse of the community, providing healthcare 24 hours a day, 365 days a year. New lives are welcomed to the world while other loved ones say their final goodbyes, with every level of care in between.

As the largest employer in town, your hospital often is the lifeline for individuals and businesses alike. It provides jobs and financial stability for people who live and work there while offering needed services to companies and other entities in the community.

This year’s speakers will give you the insight you need to successfully move your hospital into the future, with sessions on caregiver resilience and how to transform adversity into action, as well as trends for leadership and governance.

Your hospital is one of the most valuable assets in your community. Learn how to make it the best it can be at this year’s Annual Meeting.

I look forward to seeing you there!

MESSAGE FROM CRAIG BECKER

Once again, the THA Annual Meeting will be in downtown Nashville. Holding the meeting downtown was a huge hit last year, with many attendees taking advantage of the easy access to restaurants, music venues and other activities. With that in mind, we’re excited to be at the Music City Center, in the heart of downtown.

While I am proud of my Nashville community, I know you are equally proud of your hometown and hospital. As the pulse of your community, the hospital and its caregivers support area residents every day through its services and programs. Without the local hospital, many communities, especially in small, rural areas, would not exist.

To help with the many challenges occurring in healthcare, this year’s Annual Meeting offers education sessions that will give attendees the knowledge and information they need to provide the best care possible to residents who live in their communities. New initiatives and innovations in leadership, governance, patient safety and caring for the disadvantaged will be discussed during the education programs. These sessions will offer participants an opportunity to hear new ideas and suggestions on what will work best in the future.

I encourage you to attend this year’s Annual Meeting and take advantage of this exciting learning opportunity. I look forward to seeing you in October!

THA GIVES BACK COMMUNITY SERVICE PROJECT

A COMMUNITY SERVICE PROJECT IN CONJUNCTION WITH THA ANNUAL MEETING BENEFITTING

THA is excited to announce a community service project in conjunction with its 2017 Annual Meeting. Attendees will be asked to assemble kits consisting of personal hygiene products to benefit Operation Stand Down Tennessee (OSDTN), a statewide veterans services organization.

Item donations or monetary contributions can be made anytime between now and Oct. 10 to the THA Education Department. Items being collected are new travel size bottles of shampoo, conditioner, lotion, toothpaste and bars of soap, as well as packages of men’s socks (sized medium to large), underwear (sized medium to extra-large) and undershirts (sized medium to triple-extra-large). Attendees also may bring items with them to Annual Meeting.

A friendly competition will be held among the THA membership districts. The district that completes the most kits during Annual Meeting and the district that contributes the most socks, underwear and undershirts will be recognized with the THA Service Cup at the THA Membership Luncheon on Oct. 13.

TENNESSEE CENTER FOR PATIENT SAFETY LEADERSHIP SUMMIT
Special event pre-registration required; lunch provided

THA’s Tennessee Center for Patient Safety (TCPS), Tennessee Society for Organizational Improvement (TSOI), Tennessee Organization of Nurse Executives (TONE), Tennessee Nurses Association (TNA) and Tennessee Association for Healthcare Quality (TAHQ) are proud to host the 2017 Annual Leadership Summit, which showcases hospitals from Tennessee and shares best practices on fostering an organizational culture of excellence, quality and patient safety improvement successes, navigating transitions of care and promoting collaboration and teamwork.

The summit is a great opportunity to network and share successful strategies among hospitals, as well as recognize and reward staff members’ hard work on improving care for patients.

LEADERSHIP SUMMIT KEYNOTE ADDRESS
Thriving vs. Surviving: Enhancing Caregiver Resilience
Bryan Sexton, Ph.D.
Associate Professor and Director of Patient Safety Research and Training at Duke University Health System

Stressed? Anticipating even more work demands on your attention, time and energy? We have learned that the need to improve quality and organizational performance is quite different from being ready to improve. If you, your staff or your colleagues are feeling particularly spent, it is probably because the level of emotional exhaustion in healthcare workers is at an all-time-high, with one out of three people already meeting the criteria for burnout syndrome. Against the backdrop of healthcare reform and economic uncertainty, our resilience is even further compromised. During this session, Bryan Sexton, Ph.D., one of the country’s foremost experts on caregiver burnout and resilience, will review the prevalence and severity of burnout, describe fatigue management and provide tools, tactics and research on how to enhance resilience in employees and physicians.

Resilience will not only help you survive in the workplace, it will help you thrive!

Ethical challenges arise in all aspects of healthcare and service, from the bedside to the boardroom. Hospital leaders and boards set the ethical compass of the organization by making decisions about priorities, policies and resource allocation as they determine the best ways to meet the needs of their communities, while respecting their staff and the populations they serve. Understanding the expanding paradigm of planning, creating and maintaining an ethical healthcare organization is crucial to help identify strategies for implementing ethics initiatives within your own organization. Healthcare leaders must “walk the talk” and demonstrate their commitment to ethics throughout their organization.

More than 46 million Americans are without health insurance and many more are underinsured. This has a direct impact on healthcare executives in terms of cost and reimbursement, provision of charity care, state law and community collaboration and benefit. By hearing from hospital executives that have successfully implemented programs to care for the un/underinsured, in addition to local lawmakers that can speak to specific local regulations and policies, participants will get a better understanding of their obligations and opportunities in this important area.

This program has been developed and is presented locally by THA, American College of Healthcare Executives of Middle Tennessee, Midsouth Health Care Executives and East Tennessee Healthcare Executives Affiliation.

The Advantage of Disadvantage: How to Transform Adversity into Action
Steve Pemberton
Vice President, Diversity and Inclusion
Global Chief Diversity Officer, Walgreens Boots Alliance

Steve Pemberton’s story is about defying seemingly insurmountable odds—overcoming abuse and neglect as an orphan in foster care to become a trail-blazing corporate executive, enlightened diversity leader, visionary youth advocate and acclaimed speaker.

His best-selling memoir, A Chance in the World, recounts his triumphant life journey and drive to become a man of resilience, determination and vision. Now an upcoming major motion picture, A Chance in the World further amplifies Steve’s highly motivational messages: Believe in your dreams, rise above obstacles, create opportunities for others and, most of all, persevere.

Determined to use his success as a platform to lift up others, Pemberton has made equality, access and opportunity pillars of both his professional and personal life. He currently serves as vice president, diversity and inclusion, and global chief diversity officer at Walgreens Boots Alliance. He is the first person in Walgreens’ 100-plus year history to hold the position of chief diversity officer.

"Diversity is less about how we look than what unique experiences we have had and what talents and ideas each of us are willing to invest in achieving success together." -Steve Pemberton

Enhanced Strategies for Bundled Payments

SPEAKERS:

Michael Wolford
Senior Manager
DHG Healthcare

Episodic payment programs have grown exponentially in popularity since 2011. Today, every hospital in Tennessee is participating in bundled payments (“Episodes of Care” or “EoC”) for select Medicaid patients; dozens of providers also are voluntarily or mandatorily enrolled in other bundling programs with other payors.

Bundled payments have gained traction by virtue of governmental efforts to change the reimbursement paradigm. What value do bundled payments drive for patients, payors and providers? How do you coordinate with non-acute providers? How can hospitals enhance their existing strategies through bundled payment participation?

DHG Healthcare, the national healthcare practice of Dixon Hughes Goodman, a leader in episodic advisory consulting and data analytics, will provide extensive experience in bundled payments to present this session.

Ball of Confusion: Trends and What They Mean for Leadership and Governance

This session will include recognition of hospital boards that have completed THA’s Board Certification Program.

James Orlikoff
President, Orlikoff & Associates, Inc.

The state of healthcare is getting more and more curious. Across the country, state budget cuts are resulting in significant payment reduction to hospitals, while in several states, hospitals’ tax-exempt status has been successfully challenged. There also are a host of other dizzying changes in the payment system, including MACRA, MIPS and CCJR. Meanwhile, the future state of healthcare is completely up in the air.

This presentation will identify the trends impacting hospitals and health systems and discuss implications for leaders. It also will address the changing soul of governance in the context of these trends and the increased time demands on volunteer board members as they try to stay ahead of healthcare trends.

Please note: Lunch will not be provided as part of this session. A buffet lunch will be available from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. Attendees must pre-register for the lunch buffet.

Making a Difference: Advice from America’s Doctor
Regina Benjamin, M.D., MBA
Founder, Gulf States Health Policy Research Center

As the 18th U.S. Surgeon General, Regina Benjamin, M.D., chaired the National Prevention Health Promotion Council, which released the first ever national prevention strategy. The strategy is a roadmap to a more healthy and fit nation. It outlines specific ways to decrease or nearly eliminate the leading causes of death with tobacco-free living, healthy eating, drug abuse and excessive alcohol use prevention, active living, injury and violence-free living, reproductive and sexual health and mental and emotional well-being. The ultimate goal is to reduce health disparities and improve health equity.

Attendees will learn why the U.S. needs to transition from a health system based on sickness and disease to one based on wellness and prevention. Dr. Benjamin will discuss how to better engage patients toward the prevention of chronic diseases, and be inspired to work toward a healthier community and healthier self.

Join us as we close the conference with a thought-provoking, funny and moving inspirational story of the goals and dreams of the four “Buried Life” guys, which vividly depicts the timeless themes that every generation faces growing up. Relying on goodwill, guts and gumption, small town friends Duncan, Ben, Dave and Jonnie travel the globe in a donated purple bus to complete a list of 100 things to do before they die and help and encourage others to go after their own lists. For every item they complete on their list, they help a stranger achieve one of their dreams. Everywhere they go they ask the same question: “What do you want to do before you die?” This has become the group’s tool to uncover the goals and dreams people have.

Ben Nemtin and his three college buddies wrote their first book, What Do You Want To Do Before You Die? This book is an illustrated collection of their wildest dreams, bringing 200 of the most moving, imaginative, amusing and thought-provoking things to do before you die to life through handmade art.

THA Awards of Excellence booklet featuring all award recipients will be available at the membership luncheon. Following the conclusion of the annual meeting, it will be available at www.tha.com.

Ben Nemtin is a number one New York Times bestselling author and star of MTV’s The Buried Life.

Fed up with the monotony of day-to-day life in college, Nemtin and his friends set out on a two-week road trip with a camera and borrowed RV to complete a list of “100 things to do before you die.” For each item they accomplished on their list, they helped a complete stranger cross something off their own list. Since then, Nemtin and his friends have crossed off nearly all 100 list items and have encouraged millions of people to realize their dreams, help others and believe anyone can do anything.

Nemtin’s bucket list quest has brought him from the White House to play basketball with President Obama to Oprah’s couch to having a beer with Prince Harry in London. Currently, he is crossing off #91, which is to make a movie. The Buried Life feature documentary film is set to be released in 2018.

Steve Pemberton is vice president of diversity and inclusion and global chief diversity officer at Walgreens Boots Alliance, the first global pharmacy-led, health and wellbeing enterprise in the world, employing 370,000 people in 25 countries.

Prior to this position, he served as chief diversity officer at Walgreens, becoming the first person to hold that position in the company’s 114-year history.

Under Pemberton’s leadership, Walgreens reached record levels of performance on nearly every measure of diversity and inclusion from representation to supplier diversity spend. An extended part of his responsibilities has been to serve as a public ambassador for the company on matters of employing people with disabilities. In that capacity, he frequently has represented Walgreens’ employment model at the White House and on Capitol Hill. In 2015, he was appointed by U.S. Secretary of Labor Thomas Perez to serve on an Advisory Committee for the Competitive Integrated Employment of People with Disabilities.

Prior to assuming his role at Walgreens, Pemberton was chief diversity officer and vice president of diversity and inclusion at Monster.com, the leading global online careers property where he had end-to-end management responsibilities for the diversity and inclusion business unit that focused on helping employers diversify their workforce.

One of America’s "most inspiring executives," he brings a deep personal understanding of human differences and the human experience to his position. Pemberton was a ward of the state for much of his childhood, an experience he chronicled in his 2012 best-selling memoir, A Chance in the World. His extraordinary life journey has been translated into multiple languages and continues to inspire audiences across the world. The movie adaption of his life currently is underway.

He is a graduate of Boston College.

Craig Tolbert serves as a principal with DHG Healthcare, bringing more than 25 years of experience in the healthcare industry to the national strategy practice.

He is responsible for delivering solutions and developing financial models related to a variety of revenue transformation business issues, including the transition from fee-for-service to alternative payment models. Tolbert also has extensive experience delivering reimbursement consulting services focusing on revenue enhancement and federal and state regulatory issues.

His past work includes: analyzing alternative payment model data; advising on the mandatory Medicare programs; developing multiple payment models; and evaluating strategic implementation plans.

Tolbert specializes in navigating new payment and delivery structures such as Center for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS) voluntary and mandatory bundles and ACO initiatives. He currently leads the firm’s efforts around Revenue Portfolio Design Solutions. He has led engagements focused on bundled payments, alternative payment models, clinically integrated networks, developing co-management arrangements and assessing opportunities to protect organizations’ Medicare revenue at risk programs.

Emily Trancik, Ph.D.
Director of Ethics Integration, Saint Thomas Health, Nashville, Tenn.

Emily Trancik, Ph.D., serves as the director of ethics integration, serving all of Saint Thomas Health, St. Vincent’s Birmingham and the national ministry as part of the Ethics Advisory Leadership Community at Ascension.

Trancik works closely with the ethics department at Ascension and with local mission integration leadership in Tennessee and Alabama.

In her position, she is responsible for overall planning, operation and evaluation of ethics services, and for integrating ethics practices into daily operations. She leads the development of an ethics program within Saint Thomas Health that provides education, consultation and policy development to ensure that ethics is at the foundation of all levels of the organization.

Trancik was an ethics fellow at Ascension from 2014 to 2016 and an ethicist at SSM Health Care in St. Louis. She completed her Ph.D. in health care ethics at Saint Louis University in December 2016.

Michael Wolford
Senior Manager, DHG Healthcare, Cleveland, Ohio

Since joining the firm in 2010, Michael Wolford has become one of the firm’s go-to authorities on bundled/episodic payments, hospital merger transactions, physician-hospital alignment agreements and health system strategic planning. These efforts have focused on helping physicians and hospitals develop win-win strategies and successful business models.

During Wolford’s tenure with DHG Healthcare, he has served as the director of bundled payments (2012-2014) for a Bundled Payments for Care Improvement (BPCI) awardee. This position included leading care redesign efforts, aligning physician and hospital initiatives, creating economic win-win opportunities and validating data to build the BPCI value proposition.

Wolford’s other project work includes facilitating hospital-physician alignment relationships in orthopedics, radiology, spine services, sports medicine, oncology, cardiothoracic surgery and general surgery. His experience in these hospital services includes co-management agreements, professional services arrangements, recruitment assistance contracts, bundled payments and comprehensive clinical institutes. Client results from Michael’s work include increased physician engagement, decreased hospital costs for surgical implants, streamlined operating room efficiency, increased patient satisfaction and stronger hospital-physician relationships.
ACHE Face-to-Face

This program has been developed and presented locally by the Tennessee Hospital Association, American College of Healthcare Executives of Middle Tennessee, Midsouth Health Care Executives and the East Tennessee Healthcare Executives Affiliation.
